New Batch Jobs for MS Outlook (Windows) A Batch file is a program that performs a series of tasks or actions. The list of files can be thousands or even hundreds of thousands in size and can be stored on any drive. There is no such restriction for this file. The task is to generate a list of files in a particular folder so that the user can view a list of files and perform actions (delete, copy, move, copy) on the selected files. This is very important with thousands of files. For example, the user has a file which was saved many months ago. The user needs this file now and wishes to have a list of files in a folder which he can select. The user can perform actions on these files. This is the purpose of a Batch file. Features of the Software: • Additions/Removals of files from a folder • Executing a command of check box items • Renaming of files • Fetching files from a folder • Deleting of selected files • Copy of selected files • Comparison of two files • Discarding the selected files • Processing of files using commands The functionality of the software is fully based on the Batch file. The commands of the software are of a graphical representation for batch file. The user can execute the following commands in the batch file. • Copy • Move • Move folder • Rename • Delete • Move to folder • Show files name • Show files size • Create new folder • Rename file • Execute command on selected files Steps to create the batch file: • Open MS Outlook • Click the File menu • Choose New • From the drop-down menu, choose Batch file • Check the box marked "Create a new file" and "Create a new folder" • In the next window, specify the name of the file and the directory where you want to save this file. • Now if you want to add or remove the files, add or remove the files from/from the folder. • When you are done with the input file, select "Yes" to save this file. • Once done with the input file, select "OK" to save the batch file.
